Developing an Action Plan for Being a Responsible Citizen

When a responsible citizen identifies a problem, they should take action. Responsible citizens keep themselves informed about their country, state and community. Being informed helps them make good decisions and allows them to identify ways they can help in their communities. Based on this, develop an action plan that will allow you to help solve a problem in your community.

Identify a problem
Think of ways to solve the problem
What can you do to help?
How can you go about implementing your idea?
